TWELFTH DAY ...... Tuesday, August 30. The Court assembled at the usual hour but some time was occupied in explaining and correcting the testimony of the preceding day. Parser Speiden said, "My evidence of yesterday before the Court conveys the idea that the Marines did re-ship as well as the seamen. I wish now to be distinctly understood that I do not know from any evidence in my possession tha the Marines did re-ship, but infer from the fact of their being mastered at the same time the seamen were, and afterwards receiving the bounty to go the cruize in the Exploring Expedition that they did so understanding the terms in the same light as the seamen; and I would further state that the marines are never required to sign the same articles as the

Q. Will you state to the Court If there is, or ever has been any evidence in the files of your office, that the marines who went out in the Exploring Expedition, re-enlisted before the squadron sailed from the U.S.

A. I have not been able to find any.

A. We have a right. Cross examined. Have you over known of the re-enlist

Q. Look at the report now shown you, and say if you have not seen it before. (This was the one with the words Sunday morning.)

A. No, not with the word morning, sir.

A. No, not with the word morning, sir.

Q. Is not that your correction?

A. (kooking at it,) I cannot tell now after the lapse of two years. I know that I signed a report and that is my signature. I never knowingly signed a report claiming to have discovered land on Sunday morning,—my whole course shows the contrary, because we did not discover land.

Q. State kow the appearance of land on the morning of the 19th bore from the Peacock?

A Southwest

Q. Were you gunner of the Vincennes on her last cruize If aye, did you see land on the 19th, and speak to Lieut Wilkes 25out it?

pearance of the land on the morning of the 19th than you Passed Midshepman Eld called.

Q. Was you attacked to the Peacock, and did you see land on the 19th of Jan., 1840, from that vessel?

A. I was attached to that vessel and to the best of my knowledge I saw land late on the atternoon of that day.—It caused considerable excitement among the officers. I was at the manner of the control of the same of at the mast-head two or three hours on that day. It was much higher than any icebergs or island that I saw during that cruize. The form also of this appearance of land was

A. I saw it on the 17th, between 10 and 11-1 saw it from the maintopmast cross trees in company with Lieut. Under-wood, as it was my custom to decry day while cruizing in that sea. Both of us immediately exclaimed, "There is the There were 3 remarkable peaks, one of a conical and wo with the appearance of a dome, much like mountains of a voicanic formation. After looking at it for some time we sent down for a spy-glass and examined it very closely and came to the conclusion that it could be nothing else than terrajfirma. This like the land I spoke of on the 19th, was much higher than any ice island, and a very strong reason I would give for its being land is that all ice islands before being detached from the shore are invariably table topped or in large square masses, and never become of the va of figure until they have undergone the vicissitud of figure until they have undergone the vicissitudes of climate, and have been broken by being melted, or perhaps broken by their own weight or the action of the sea. I would also remark it was a very clear and beautiful day

A. I repeated it to him, and that I had seen the land,

A. I repeated it to him, and that I had seen the land, and he remarked that he believed it was land, and had not the slightest doubt. He also believed, from the many large islands and icebergs about us, that we were aground. He did not want to go any nearer, and he ordered the ship to be put about; I don't know exactly which; I went immediately and spoke to Mr. Reynolds, who remarked that it was strange that he did not come up, or send any persons aloft to examine also the appearance of land. I felt extremely mortified that he did not do so. I certainly was on the alert, for I felt anxious about it. the alert, for I felt anxious about it.

Q. If there had been such a re-enlistment, should there not have been evidence of the fact on the files of your office?

A. There should be.

Q. Since you have been in the service have you ever known of a re-enlistment of marines who had three years to serve?

A. Never, sir.

Q. Do you consider you have a right to re-enlist marines who have so long a time to serve?

A. We have a right.

A. We have a right to re-enlist marines who had three years to the Commander. I also recommended that the man should be discharged. I did not see any of the men sign the paper.

All should in this case because it was a special service.

Licut. Carr recalled. Did you hand to Lieut. Wilkes the application of the petty officers of the Vincennes for the discharge of Peter Sweeney?

A. Yes. On the morning Peter Sweeney was to be punished this paper was brought to me by the chief boatswain's mate, heading a delegation of petty officers. CHILDREN LAUGH FOR THEM—Children cry for some Lozenges, but they laugh for the Worm Lozenges of Dr. Peters, because the latter, while they are perfectly pleasant to the taste, immediately annihilate the destroyers that were feeding on their lives—and hence they laugh and are joyful when they are presented to them. The parents of infants who are suffering with worms should look to this, for if their children die of them their deaths will be the issue of negect, and must therefore lie at their own doors. Headache are cured by Peters' Lozenges in from two to ten minutes and coughs, colds, dyspepsia, sea-sickness, low spirits an nausea, sooner than by any other medicine heretofore dishave been received. Foster and a young man named Newman had been partners in a livery stable corner of Mercer and Broome-streets. Newman, in June 1841, bought the other out, assumed the debts, and gave four notes of $50 each, secured by a mortgage on the stock, to Foster. In March last the writs were issued, when the plaintiff claimed to have bought the property for $500, and bowed a bill of sale to that effect. He also claims to have tendered payment for the balance due on the mortgage, but that it was refused. The Court, in its charge, observed, that in making a tender on a mortgage, all the money due must ne actually counted out and tendered-it is not sufficient for a party to say he has got the money with him. The Jury considered the sale to plaintiff fraudulent, returning, in short time, with a verdict in favor of defendants.

F New and Great Invention.—FRANCIS'S HIGHLY IMPROVED MANIFOLD WRITER.—By this wonderful investion a letter and duplicate can be written in one operation with more ease and greater facility than a single letter with an ordinary pen and ink.

To the mercantile, professional and traveling part of the community this truly great invention is of infinite value as it is a great saving of TIME, TROUBLE and EXPENSE. The principal advantage to be derived from the manifold writer is, that a copy of any document may be kept without any additional trouble to the writer, and without any additional trouble to the writer, and without any necessity of using either an inkstand or a pen. The instrument used for writing is an agate point, consequently it never wears by use. For banks, insurance offices, merchants, men of business contents. ness generally, lawyers, vostmasters, editors, reporters, pub-lic officers, and all who may be desirous of preserving copies of their letters, documents, &c. with an immense saving of time and the satisfaction of having an exact copy of what

Mr. Morriss made a complete tour through Greece, both in the North and the Morea, and in that respect, as containing a record of his observations, his has the advantage of any other American book yf travels. And we may also additude the descriptions of the temples of Egypt are very full made from observations written on the spot, with these wonmade from observations written on the spot, with these wonders of human ingenuity before the author, and impressing his mind with their solemn grandeur. [U. S. Gaz. This work is precisely such an one as a man is glad to take up when the desires information upon the subject of which it treats.

Mr. Morris is an easy and graceful writer; he describes his personal adventures and the subjects which attracted his attention with good taste, in a lively and agreeable manner. An appendix to the first volume contoining regulations of the French Government Styamers in the Mediteranean will prove very useful to persons contemplating a Continentatour. Q. Did you see land any day prior to the 19th? If so, on the 16th, with a little light cumulus floating above the horizon just where we could see the land.

Q. Did you see land subsequent the 19th, and when?

A.J Yes, sir, to the best of my belief I saw it on the 23d and 26th.

Q. Are you now attached to the North Carolina?

Question objected to—first because the answer could only be speculative so fat as it regards the witness, and secondly because it has been already proved by Lieut. Hudson that he did make a report claiming the discovery of land.

In the Court of Common Pleas, an action sent back a second time for trial by the Supreme Court, to which it had been carried on appeal) was brought by Seth Perry, and others, owners of ship Gov. Cass, against Johnson & Lawden, for expenses incurred while keeping the vessel ready for sea agreeably to asserted wish of defendants. Messrs. J. & L. have a regular line of packets between Savannah and this port. In 1336 they induced the plaintiffs to put their vessel on the line, and to receive a certain per centage on her earnings. On arriving from a trip in Aug. 1857 plaintiffs contend that Mr. Robinson induced them to keep their sails bent, their crew on board, &c. ready for a start,
